

Video and Voice Integrated Control Room Solutions

Since 2008, JVC and Kenwood Electronics have been combined under a single corporation – JVC Kenwood Holdings. The professional products groups within JVC Kenwood Holdings now include JVC’s video surveillance technologies, Kenwood’s two-way radio communications products and Zetron’s communication control room systems. Each of these companies has individually established a world-class reputation over many years, with prestigious customer references.

To download more information about Video and Voice Integrated Control Room Solutions, click here.